

Andrzej Massel

Born on 19 January 1965.

Graduated from Gdańsk University of Technology, Faculty of Civil Engineering, Railway Engineering PhD - 1997.

Since 1990 professionally involved with Railway Institute (former Railway Scientific and Technical Centre); since 2005 deputy director for research and studies.

Between 2000 and 2001 marshal representative for railway transport at Marshal's Office of Pomeranian Voivodeship in Gdańsk.

Between 2000 and 2001 member of supervisory board of PKP SKM in the Polish Tricity area.

Shared his professional schedule between activities in the Railway Institute and lectures at the Faculty of Civil and Environmental Engineering, Gdańsk University of Technology.

Member of National Railway Workers' Section of the Polish Association of Engineers and Technicians of Transportations, and member of the Committee for High Speed Railways in Poland.

Co-author of feasibility studies related to transport projects, e.g. line E-65 Warsaw - Działdowo - Gdynia (2003-2004), first underground line in Warsaw from the route B20 to A23 "Młociny Station" (2004-2005).

Conducted the preliminary feasibility study for high speed line Wrocław/Poznań - Łódź - Warsaw.

Chaired the commission on Master Plan for railway transport in Poland till 2030.

Co-author of the Pomeranian Metropolitan Railway project.

Author of research papers on rail infrastructure.

Still writes for a monthly "Technika Transportu Szynowego".

Foreign languages: English, Russian, German.

Married.